Keeping Our Hubs Safe and Welcoming

At Her-Place, the safety and wellbeing of every woman and girl who walks through our doors is our priority.

To strengthen our safeguarding and ensure that our hubs remain safe, welcoming and supportive environments for everyone, we are introducing a locked-door policy across our locations.

We appreciate that this may be a change for some of our visitors, but we want to reassure you that our approach to providing accessible, friendly and inclusive support remains exactly the same.

You are still welcome to call in at any time during our opening hours. No appointment or referral is needed.

The only change is that our doors will remain locked, and visitors will need to knock, ring the doorbell or contact a member of our team to gain entry.

This simple measure helps us manage access to our buildings, protect the people who use our services and create a safe environment for our staff, volunteers and visitors.

Whether you are joining an activity, accessing one of our services, looking for a listening ear or simply wanting to connect with others, we are here for you.

We understand that asking for help or entering a new space can sometimes feel daunting. Please don't let our locked doors put you off. Our team will be ready to welcome you and help you feel at ease.

At Her-Place, we believe that everyone deserves a safe space where they feel heard, valued and supported.
